

Nationally Known Flower Artist Will Speak Here

MRS. MARION STOCKTON
... To Speak Here

Mrs. Marion Stockton, nationally known for her art work in ceramics and flower arrangements, will be the guest speaker at a tea to be given by the Torrance Terrace Garden Club at the YWCA on Jan. 25 at 1:30 p.m. This will be the club's first social meeting of the new year.

Mrs. Stockton, whose theme is "The Future Is Mapped by Yesterdays" is one of a family of five, who enjoyed an outdoor childhood in mining camps in mountains, desert and islands. Her environment spurred an imagination aware of all nature which is evidenced in her creative art.

The lecturer is a graduate of UCLA, where she studied for a teaching career in art. She continues on her first teaching assignment at the San Pedro High School. For many years she has been featured by clubs for talks on art and floral arrangements.

For the past six years she has exhibited unusual entries in the professional section of the International Flower Show. Last year her arrangements were featured at the Spring Panorama in Pasadena, enhancing the Glen LuKin Desert glass exhibit.

She will be presented by Mrs. John Thus, program chairman, who says that Mrs. Stockton will give generously of her helpful ideas and will show her original creative displays.

Mrs. John Thus and Mrs. Dewey Quigley are taking reservations for the tea. Tickets will also be available at the door.
